High school planning starts

The Victoria Times Colonist
November 27, 2012

A request for qualifications has been issued for engineering and architectural services for the planned new Glen Lake Secondary School. The closing date for submissions to the Sooke School District is Dec, 20. Plans call for the new Glen Lake school to replace the existing Belmont Secondary School. The new building will go up on the site of the former Glen Lake Elementary School, between Glen Lake Road and Langford Road. It will be built to LEED gold standards. The Belmont replacement includes a new secondary school for 1,200 students at the Glen Lake site in Langford. Another new secondary school is to be built for 800 students at Royal Bay in Colwood. A neighbourhood learning centre is also part of the Glen Lake plan. That school is slated to be finished in 2015.
